Intra-Week ALERT for Wednesday – June 15, 2016

“Brexit Brouhaha”

As we enter the final week leading into the UK’s vote on Brexit, the markets are reinforcing the uncertainty being felt in Britain, the EU, and around the globe. Gold is surging (as is Bitcoin) - corroborating the cycles peaking during the middle half of June - as global Indices have sold off and turned short-term trends down.

Regardless of the Brexit vote outcome, cycles continue to project yet another crisis for the British Pound - following the 8-Year Cycle that pinpointed UK currency debacles in 1968, 1976, 1984, 1992, 2000 & 2008. [See June ’16 INSIIDE Track]…

In each case, the final low was in the ensuing year (1985, 1993, 2001 & 2009) - following dramatic declines - creating a delayed 8-Year Cycle that projects a final British Pound low in 2017.

And then there’s the FTSE that set descending highs in April 2015 & April 2016 and has already created an outside-month to the downside. Any additional uncertainty could accelerate those declines. Meanwhile…

Stock Indices (US) are steadily validating the potential for an intermediate peak in the first half of June… and remain vulnerable to a sharp drop into late-June--early-July (~5 months from the late-Jan./early-Feb. lows - that were ~5 months from the preceding late-Aug./early-Sept. ’15 lows).

The DJ Transports are again leading the way and looking like they could enter an accelerated decline in the coming week(s). The same is true of the DJIA as these Indices move through the most vulnerable period of their latest ~5-month cycle… the last couple weeks.

That is when the sharpest drops (often 80% of an overall decline) have been seen. Just as in Jan. ’16 & Aug. ’15, the Indices are positioned to where they could see a sharp 2--3 week sell-off to culminate the latest cycle.

There remain several Indices that waited until early-Feb. to set their previous lows, so this decline still has the potential to stretch into July (~5 months later) before bottoming.

Corroborating this, and allowing 1 or 2 Indices to spike higher in early-June, the Russell 2000 has perpetuated a very consistent 6-month/~180-degree cycle that includes a high (monthly close) in June ’14, & ensuing highs in Dec. ’14, June & Dec. ’15.

It also completed a 50% rebound in time (rebounding for 4 months after an 8-month decline) as all the Indices fulfilled the weekly LHR indicator.

Almost all of the Indices are primed for an accelerated decline - reinforced by key signals on today’s close…

1--3 & 3--6 month traders & investors could have re-entered the short side of Stock Indices at 17,912--18,016/DJIA, 2077.5--2105.25/ES & 4378--4545/NQ and should [reserved for subscribers only; watch events of June 20--24th for critical confirmation]….

Intra-Week ALERT for Wednesday – June 15, 2016

"Brexit Brouhaha"

Bonds & Notes remain on track for an overall advance…a high in mid-to-late-June would increase the potential for a subsequent high in mid-to-late-Dec. 2016 - what remains as the ideal time (within 1--2 weeks) for a Major, multi-year peak… arriving 6 months/~180 degrees from this latest (potential) peak.

The uncertainty regarding Brexit, combined with weakening economic numbers, are providing the final fundamental corroboration to technical & cyclical analysis that was already in place. [See June '16 INSIIDE Track for analysis on an impending crisis in Britain, that could be accelerated by a Brexit.]

The weekly & intra-year trends remain solidly up, reinforcing this overall outlook and the potential for an impending peak (around mid-year)…this surge could easily stretch into next week...

On a continuous-contract basis, the most important levels of resistance remain at 170-26/US & 133-01/TY, the early-2016 highs. Ultimately, Bonds & Notes need to exceed these levels to extend their overall advances.

The Dollar Index remains above the lows set in early-May '16… 2 years from the decisive low of early-May '14, 1 year from the early-May '15 low weekly close & 5 years from the early-May '11 bottom.

It set an initial rebound high in line with a geometric cycle, ~90 degrees from the early-March peak & ~180 degrees from the early-Dec. peak. That recent high projects cycle focus to [reserved for subscribers only]… A second advance should then follow.

The Euro rebounded .618 of its previous decline (and to monthly resistance) & reversed lower, eventually turning its daily trend down. That could spur a reactive 1--3 day bounce before another drop…

Gold & Silver continue to rally after fulfilling the 2--4 week potential for a pullback into late-May and down to 1190--1200.0/GCQ & 15.90/SIN.

They turned their daily trends up, extending these surges and targeting a continued rally into intermediate cycles in Gold. As described while anticipating a multi-week peak in late-April, Gold was then focused on the weeks surrounding mid-June for a more significant & subsequent peak.

As stated on April 11th, a high in late-April would come at "…the mid-point of the current ~90-degree high-high cycle - separating the mid-March peak with an expected mid-June peak…The middle half of June 2016 is the next phase of a related ~90-degree low-high-high Cycle Progression that also includes the mid-Dec. low."

Gold has now entered that time frame - the 'middle half of June'…

3--6 month & 6--12 month traders and investors should be holding partial (~50%) long positions in Gold & Silver from mid-Dec. (~1046--1076/GC & 13.62--13.88/SIH). Hold these until [reserved for subscribers only;

See Golden Year publications for details regarding Gold analysis projecting an initial ~6-month surge to begin 2016… that could culminate by/on June 23/24th - the end of the 'middle half of June'. Could Brexit trigger a blow-off peak??].

Intra-Week ALERT for Wednesday – June 15, 2016

“Brexit Brouhaha”

Soybeans, Corn & Wheat surged into the first half of June - 1 week (normal margin of error) after Soybeans cycles peaked and precisely when Corn & Wheat cycles & timing indicators projected a blow-off high. It would take a daily close below 1146.5/SN to turn the daily trend down in Soybeans and confirm a 2--4 week (minimum) top.

If confirmed, that should spur a correction into late-June/early-July 2016 - the next phase of a ~90-degree/3-month high-high-low-low-low Cycle Progression in Corn.

Crude Oil, Unleaded Gas & Heating Oil have turned their daily trends down, increasing the potential for a drop into June 20--24th, the next phase of an 11-week high-low-low-(low?) Cycle Progression. A low during that week - or the following week - would also perpetuate a 21--23 week low-low-low-(low) Cycle Progression & could take hold at ~43.00--44.00/CLQ.

The markets are reacting to Brexit Brouhaha and seem to be indicating that a Brexit is in the cards. The British Pound (see June 2016 INSIIDE Track) remains on a track for a crisis in 2016/2017 - a possibility that is more in line with the potential for Britain to leave the EU and spur panic selling.

In addition, commodities (grains, oil markets, softs, etc.), stock Indices & the Euro are all projecting another sell-off in the coming weeks… even as the Dollar is bottoming, Bonds & Notes are poised for further spike highs while Gold could extend its gains into as late as June 23/24th.

Traders should keep in mind, however, that Brexit is likely to only be a precursor to more amplified problems - with several cycles focusing on a specific month, later in 2016. See 8-Year Cycle analysis for more details.
